Library West Virginia University ADA GRACE RICHARDS CATRON born - March 21, 1909 died - July 26, 1972

While this book was in the hands of the printers, Mother died unexpectedly in her sleep about 2:30 A. M. on July 26. Her tireless efforts in the field of geneology and her great love and concern and help to her fellowman will never die and will continue to be most significant for generations to come. The world is truly a better place because she lived in it. I know that I am a better man because she was my mother.

Mother has put so much work into this book that my father, my wife, and I just cannot let it die. Therefore, we have completed the publication and are putting the book on the market.

Mother, also, has already done the research on two more books, the 1850 Lee County Census and the 1870 Lee County Census. We hope to be able to publish these in the future.

Upon learning of Mother's death, one of her dearest friends, Mrs. Bonnie Ball of Haysi, Virginia, wrote a poem in tribute to Mother. It was printed in the Powell Valley News, a Pennington Gap weekly newspaper. This tribute is so greatly appreciated, so well done, and so appropriate that we are including it in this book.

J. Bruce Catron

She toured the ancient archives As she wiped away the dust. She explored the old courthouses, Even the basements full of must.

She braved the thorny briars; She parted the thrifty weeds; She eluded the crawling snakes To search for her many needs.

She climbed the steep hillsides She crossed both fence and bar:
She brushed away the mold and moss
To see whose corpse was borne so far.

She spent thousands of busy hours Deciphering script of family pride To find someone's great grandsire -When he was born, and where he died.

She hoarded not this great treasure, But shared it with all the world; While she asked small compensation, Her contribution to the future is unfurled.

She was known throughout the land, And a guest book lay near her door. Her ever-present helping hand Will be remembered forevermore.

By those who like to climb the trees She will always be sorely missed; Not only by them, but her hosts of friends For whom Ada Grace has topped the list.

She loved her family very dearly, She was ever loyal to a friend: She served her Lord most sincerely. May her research in Heaven never end.

Bonnie Ball

FOREWORD

Deeds and wills are given here in abstract form, most of the recorded documents being quite lengthy. If desired, however, complete copies may be obtained, for a nominal fee, from the Lee County, Virginia, courthouse in Jonesville, Virginia, 24263.

Scott County, Virginia, was formed in 1814, from parts of Lee, Russell and Washington Counties. A copy of the petition for the forming of the new county was acquired through the courtesy of Mrs. Charlie Horton of Kingsport, Tennessee. I consider this to be a valuable addition to the book.

Miss Elizabeth Carpenter of Pennington Gap, Virginia, furnished names and dates for some of the unmarked graves among the Lee County inscriptions.

Inscriptions from the Ritchie Cemetery in Claiborne County,
Tennessee, and from the Tyler Cemetery at Tyler's Bend in Lee County,
Virginia, were given by Mr. and Mrs. V. Irvin Ritchie of Firestone, Colorado. Also from the Ritchies, information on unmarked graves in the Joseph Ball Cemetery in Lee County, near Mulberry Cap, Tennessee.

My thanks to each of these friends who have contributed to the contents of this book. And I trust that the various records contained here will be of help to my fellow tree climbers.

PREFACE

As stated in previous publications of records of Lee County, Virginia, it is advisable to check the index for every conceivable spelling of the names in which one may be interested. Some surnames go through a series of spellings, usually due to errors, with some barely resembling the originals.

When the same name appears on a page more than once, but indicated as different persons, this has been whown in the index, following the page number, by the number of such persons. For instance: Maupin, Morgan G. - 139 (2).

These two men, incidentally, were my great-grandfather and great-great-grandfather. I have yet to learn the middle name, which was probably the same for each man. If anyone can furnish this information, it would be greatly appreciated.

The older man died in Blount County, Tennessee, 1838. His parents were Jesse and Lucy (Jones) Maupin, who apparently died in Henry County, Virginia, Jesse ca. 1800, Lucy surviving him. Jesse was a son of Daniel and Margaret (Via) Maupin of Albemarle County, Virginia, where Daniel died in 1788, Margaret surviving him by a year. Daniel was the younger of two sons of Gen. Gabriel de Maupin of France and his English wife, Mary (Spencer) MauManpin, who immigrated to Virginia in 1700. Much work has been done on the Maupin family, and much more remains to be done. To my knowledge, the Maupins were not in Lee County, Virginia.

END OF WILL BOOK 1

For the last five wills above, I am indebted to the late Judge George P. Cridlin for having copied them, and to Miss Elizabeth Mae Carpenter of Pennington Gap, Va., for learning, through microfilmed records in the Mormons' genealogical library in Salt Lake City, Utah, that Judge Cridlin had copied, in abstract form, Lee County's original Will Book 1 before it became lost.

I am indebted, also, to the sons of Judge George P. Cridlin. They, Judge Joseph N. Cridlin and Mr. Clyde Y. Cridlin, attorney, both of Jonesville, Va., granted permission for Miss Carpenter and me to read and copy from their father's notes.

The above mentioned five wills proved to be the ones missing from Lee County's present Will Book 1, the original wills not being available when the new book of wills, photostats of the originals, was compiled by our present Lee County Clerk, Mr. Arthur T. Burchette, of Pennington Gap, Virginia.

Along with his copy of the wills, Judge George P. Cridlin made the following statement:

"The following is a correct abstract of all wills recorded in Lee County, Virginia, Will Book No. 1, made by me from said book about ten years ago. Said will book was then in the custody of the county clerk of Lee County and in his office. Since this abstract was made, said Will Book No. 1 has been lost or destroyed so that it cannot now be found.

"This the 22 day of October 1953. Signed, George P. Cridlin, attorney and trial justice of Lee County, Virginia."

On the 1st day August County court 1886, I will proceed to sell at public outcry, the lands or so much thereof, as will settle the taxes, levies, interest at 5 per cent and costs of advertisements &c, to the above taxes described, unless the amount of taxes and costs be previously paid. This sale will be continued form day to day and if necessary from court to court until completed.

M. B. WYGAL, Treasurer.

END OF TAX LIST

The foregoing tax list is given by courtesy of Mr. Carl Evans of St. Charles, Virginia. After the decease of his mother, Mr. Evans found the list among other papers in the store which his mother had owned and operated at Maness, Virginia, near St. Charles. The store dated back many years.

TOMBSTONE INSCRIPTIONS

The Lee Co., Virginia, inscriptions included in this book are mainly from cemeteries which do not appear on our maps, and which were located after publication of a book of inscriptions in 1966. Included, also, are inscriptions from other areas, many of them adjoining Lee County, some, such as Scott and Wise Counties, in locations which were once in Lee County.

MARKER ENDWOSTERNETERT UNSCREPTUONSVIRGINIA NEAR KESTERSON MILL

Pioneer Graves

This marks the burial place of a party of white settlers who were surprised in camp and slain by Indians at daybreak, October 10, 1773. Those killed were James Boone, son of Daniel Boone, Henry Russell, san of Capt. William Russell, Robert and Richard Mendenhall, brothers, and another unnamed white man. Two escaped, Isaac Crabtree, a white man, and Adam, a Negro slave of Russell. Boone and Russell buried their sons and the others at the scene of the tragedy and gave up temporarily the first effort of white men to settle Kentucky. Erected July 10, 1951, by M. Wheeler Kesterson, a native of Lee County, Virginia, age 59 years, and a descendant of Mary Russell.

The following is a reproduction of a petition to form Scott County, Virginia, in 1814, as it appeared in The Gate City Herald, date not given on the copy available.

To the honorable the speaker and members of the General Assembly of Virginia,

The petition of sundry inhabitants of the counties of Washington, Russell & Lee, humbly represent: That they reside as a distance of from thirty to forty miles from their court houses, that the country they inhabit is rough, and their roads generally kept in bad repair so that they are almost excluded from the benefits resulting from public associations, and particularly from the enjoyment of right of suffrage. They further state that all the said counties meet at Mocqueson Gap, where the western road passing through the said county of Lee. crosses Clinch Mountain; which road would be of great public utility, could it be kept properly opened, not only to those who live within the limits herein prexcribed, as the boundaries of a new county, but to the south western part of Virginia in general, and particularly to the county of Lee; and from the present situation of the road in running near to & parrallell with the line of Russell County on the north, and Washington on the south, along a neck of Lee county three and a half miles wide at one end, and one mile at the other, from Mocqueson Gap, to Clinch River, at the mouth of Stock Greek, a distance of twelve miles, winding along and crossing Copper ridge, and thence crossing Powells Mountain and Wallins ridge to Lee court house; excludes most of the citizens of Lee county from market, and intercourse with the sister counties of their wwn state, although a sufficient number of male laborers reside within a convenient distance of the said road to improve it, if they were not separated by the lines of other counties, and which difficulty would be removed by the division herein after prayed for.

The members of Lee county also further state; that the citizens of Lee have ever been forward in supporting the honor and dignity of the laws of their country; and that both for peace establishment before, and for the regular service since the war, Lee has furnished more recruits than any other county in Virginia within their knowledge, and is still determined to do its part; they therefore hope the assembly of Virginia will disregard the little distinctions of above or below or east or west of the mountain, but as brothers will hear and grant their petition; and your petitioners believe it would be rare to find a man not blinded by private interest and knowing the facts who would not decide in favor of the division herein prayed for.

The prayer of your petitioners therefore is that all those parts of the counties of Washington, Russell and Lee, bounded by a line, to begin on the line dividing Virginia and Tennessee; where it crosses Reedy creek, near the Reedy creek road in the said county of Washington, and running thence with the Tennessee line to where it crosses the north fork of Clinch River; thence north wardly passing the flag pond to the top of Powells mountain in Lee county and along it to the line of the said county of Russell, and with it to the Kentucky line! thence along Cumbefland countain to the head of Guesses River, and down it to Clinch River, thence to Kendricks Gap in Clinch mountain, thence to a knobb immediately on the east side of Stephen Jetts house; and thence to the beginning. May be formed into a new county by the name of Summers.

Your petitioners further state, that the county herein prayed for, would include about eight companies of Malitia and about eight hundred Tytheables; will be of great public advantage; and will not, as they believe, be opposed by one individual from a belief that the public would not be benefited from the division. And your petitioners as in duty-bound shall ever pagy, etc.
